Spare Tire & Flag Mount

Models: Polaris RZR, Pro XP, Turbo R, Pro S

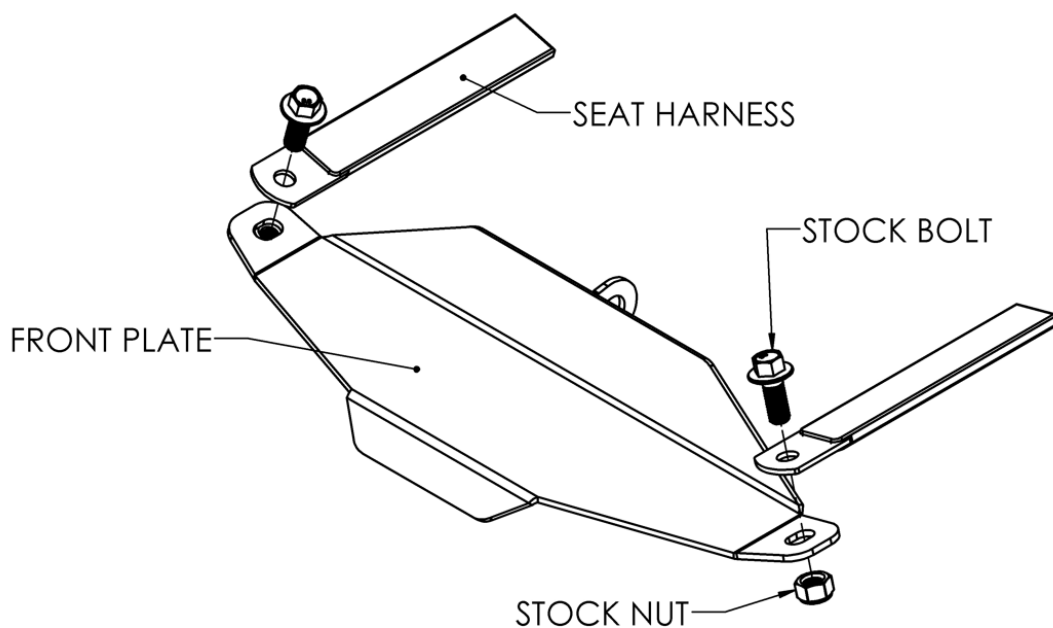

Tools Required

-16mm, 17mm, and 19mm wrenches

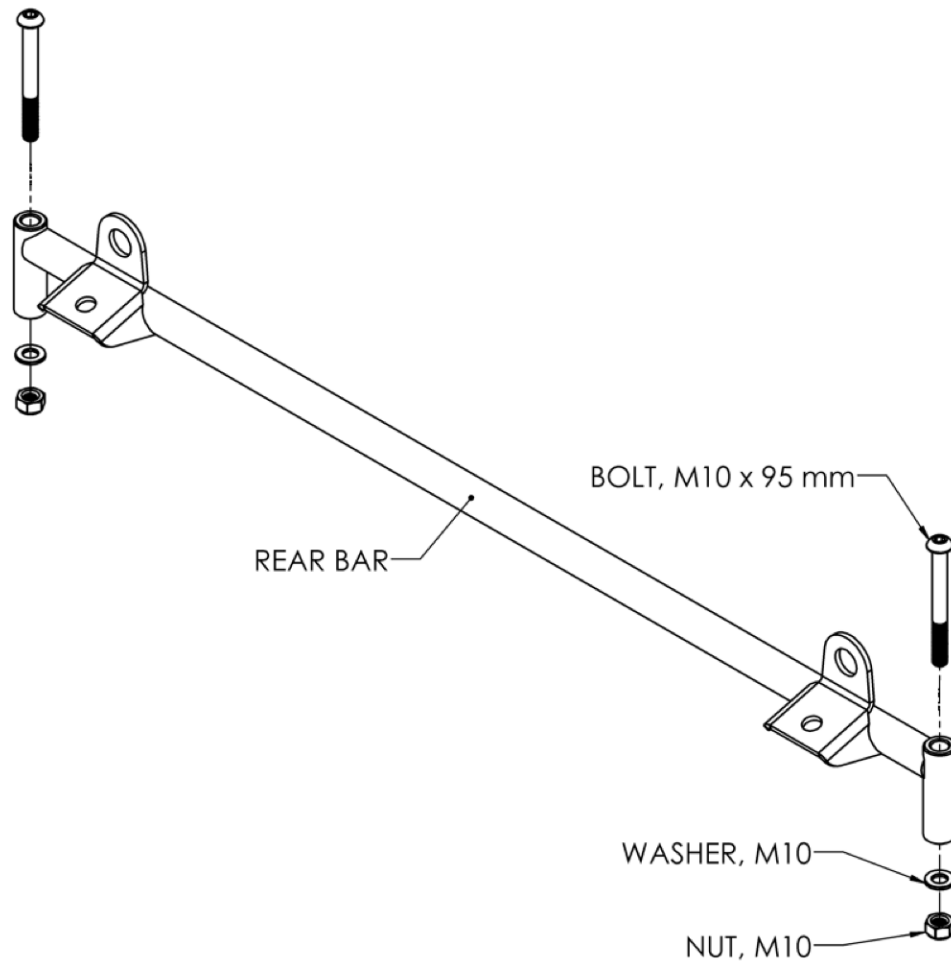

-6mm Allen tool

Instructions:

1. Remove the two center seat harness bolts. Place the front plate on top of the stock harness mounts. Place the seat harnesses on top of the front mount and reinstall the stock hardware through the front plate and harnesses.

2. Place the rear bar through the two holes in the rear plastic. There are two stock tabs welded to the roll cage that the bar sits on. Insert the provided bolts with washers from the top down through the rear bar and stock tabs. (See the additional instructions section if the bar holes do not line up with your chassis holes.) Secure from underneath with the provided nuts, using a washer between the nut and tab.

3. Place your spare tire on top of the front mount and rear bar. Secure the tire with the provided 3 way ratchet strap by attaching the hooks to the cargo tabs on the front plate and rear bar.

Note: You may need to adjust the strap's length before completely ratcheting the tire in place.

Addition instructions, if your cage bars do not line up properly:

In some cases, the rear chassis holes may not match up with the mounting holes in the provided rear tire support bar. This is due to slight assembly and manufacturing differences at the Polaris factory. If the rear support bar does not line up properly do the following.

1. Loosen both pairs of the factory rear cage bolts on either side of the car, do not fully remove them, this is what they look like;

2. Next either push or pull the rear cage bars in the direction they need to go in order to line up with the rear tire support bar holes. A second pair of hands or a ratchet strap maybe nessesary to postion the cage bars.
3. Insert and tighten the rear bar hardware and retighten the rear cage bolts to complete the install.
